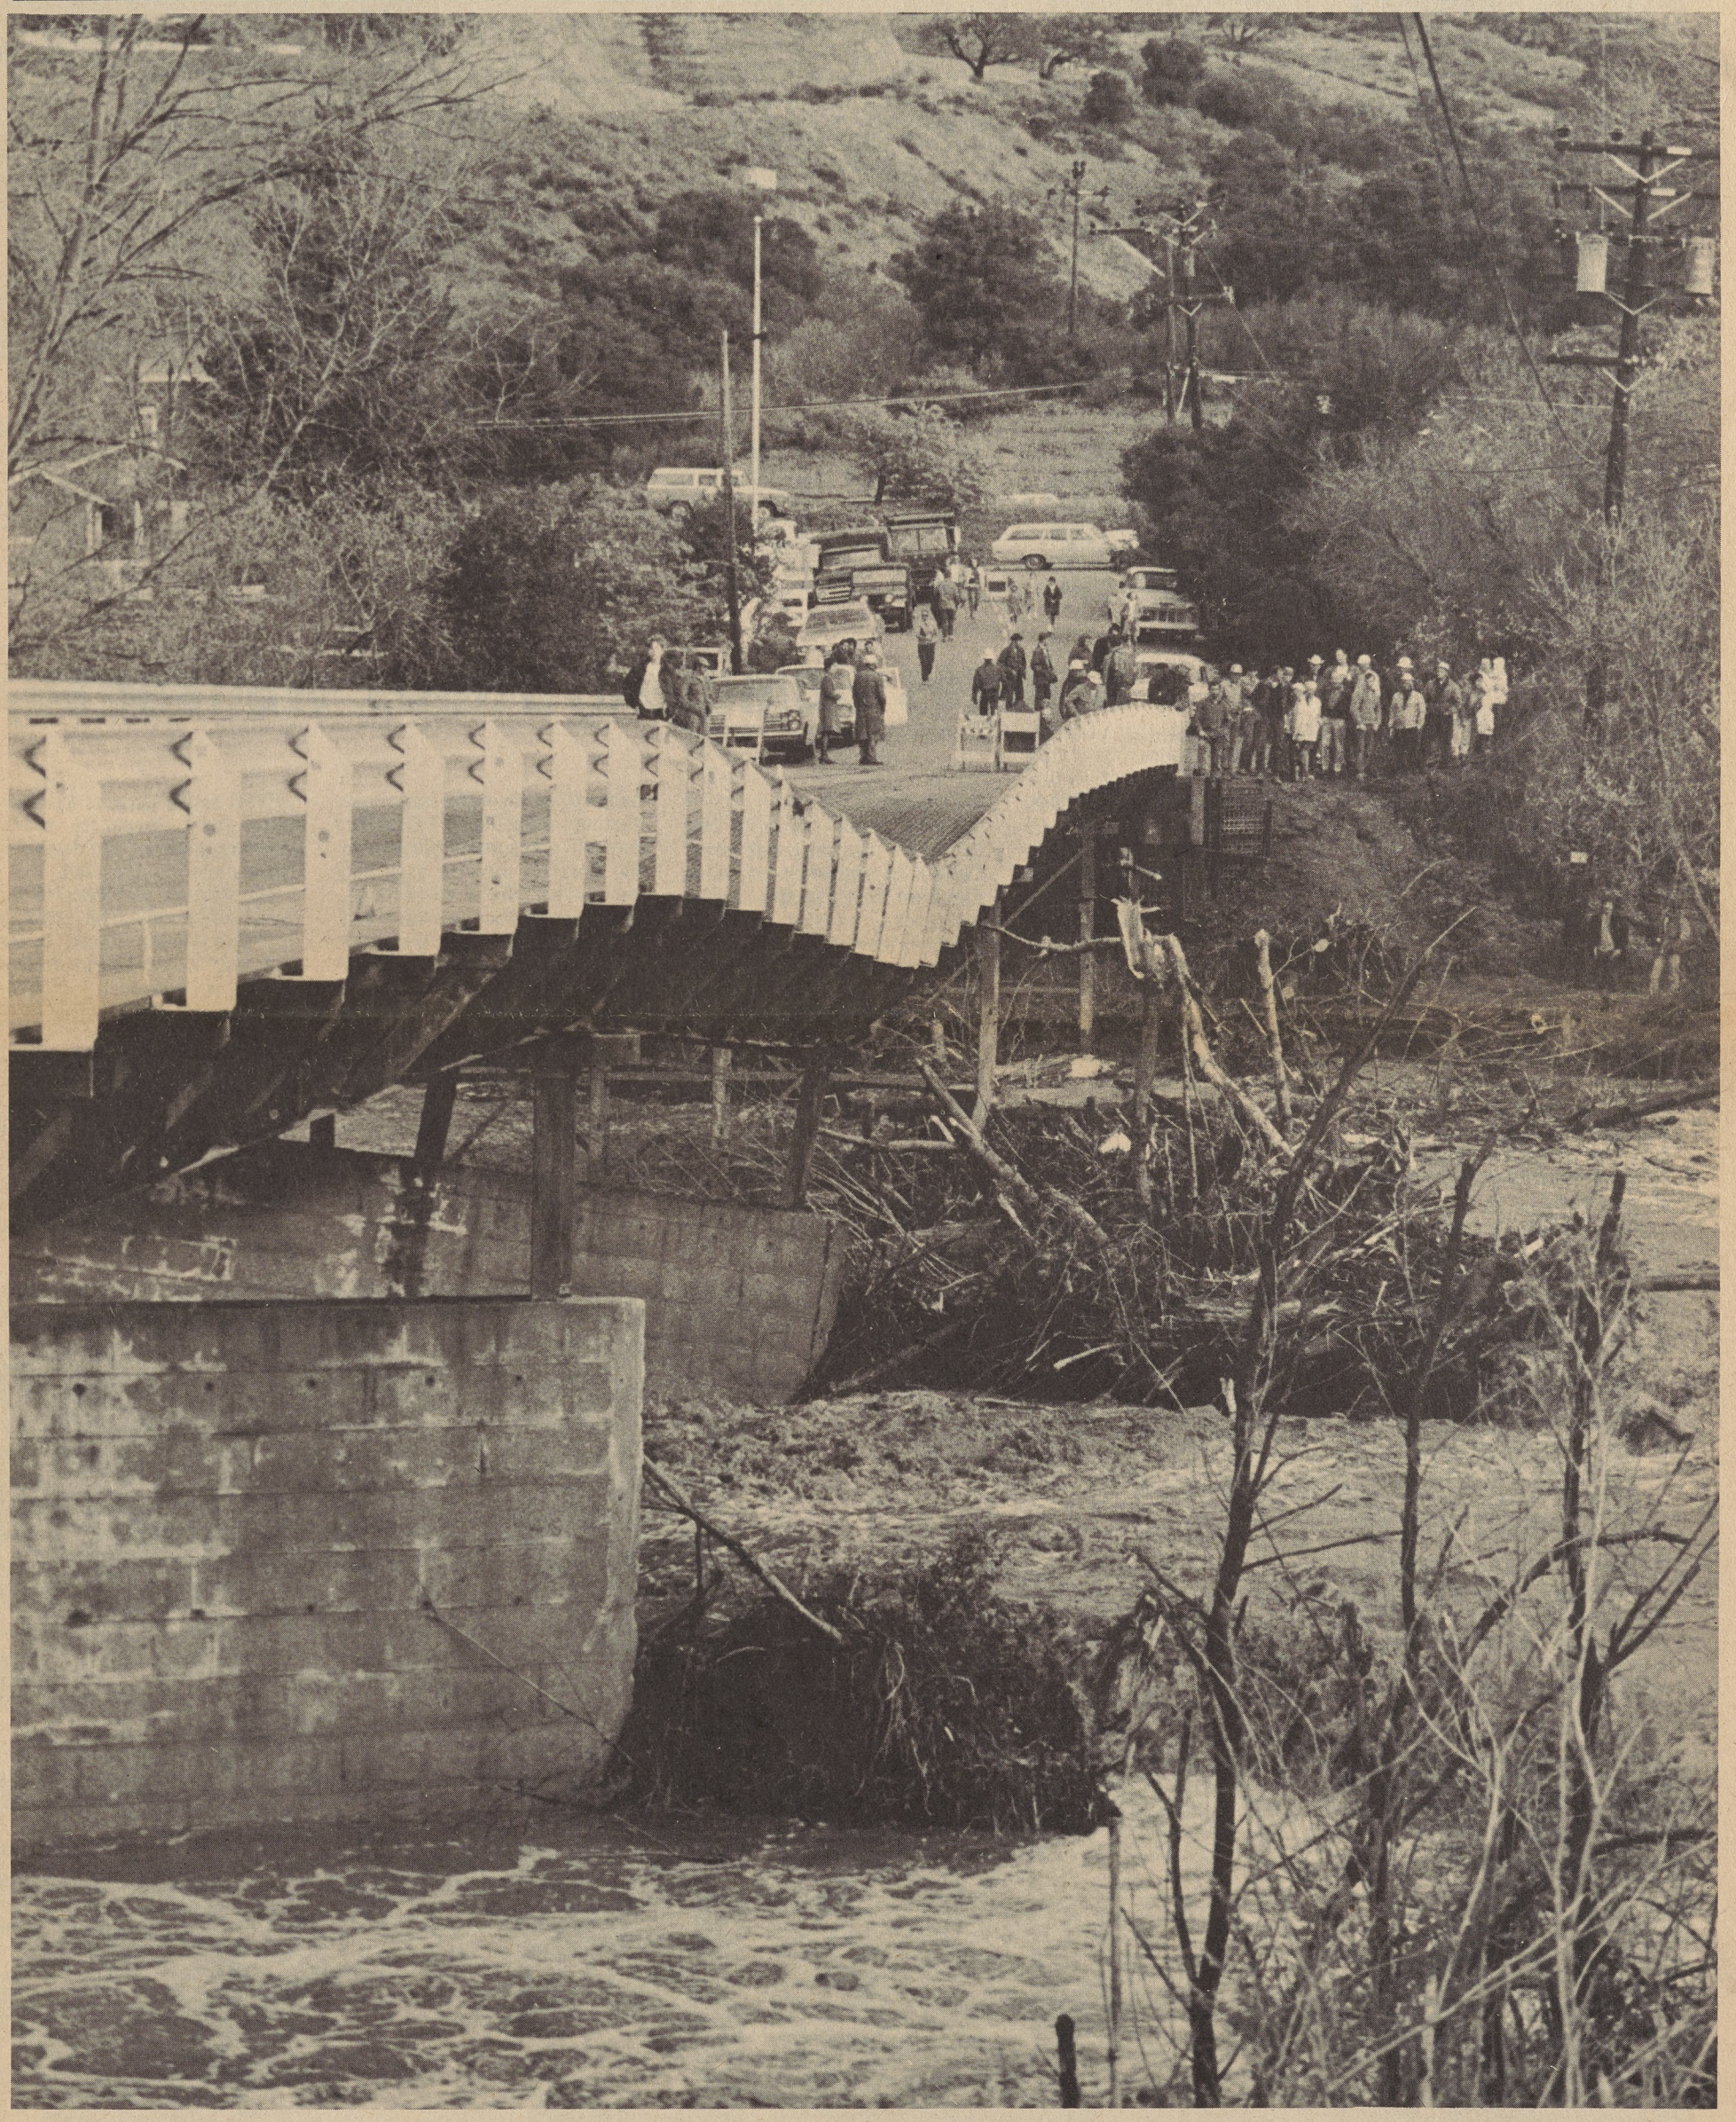
Carmel Valley Outlook

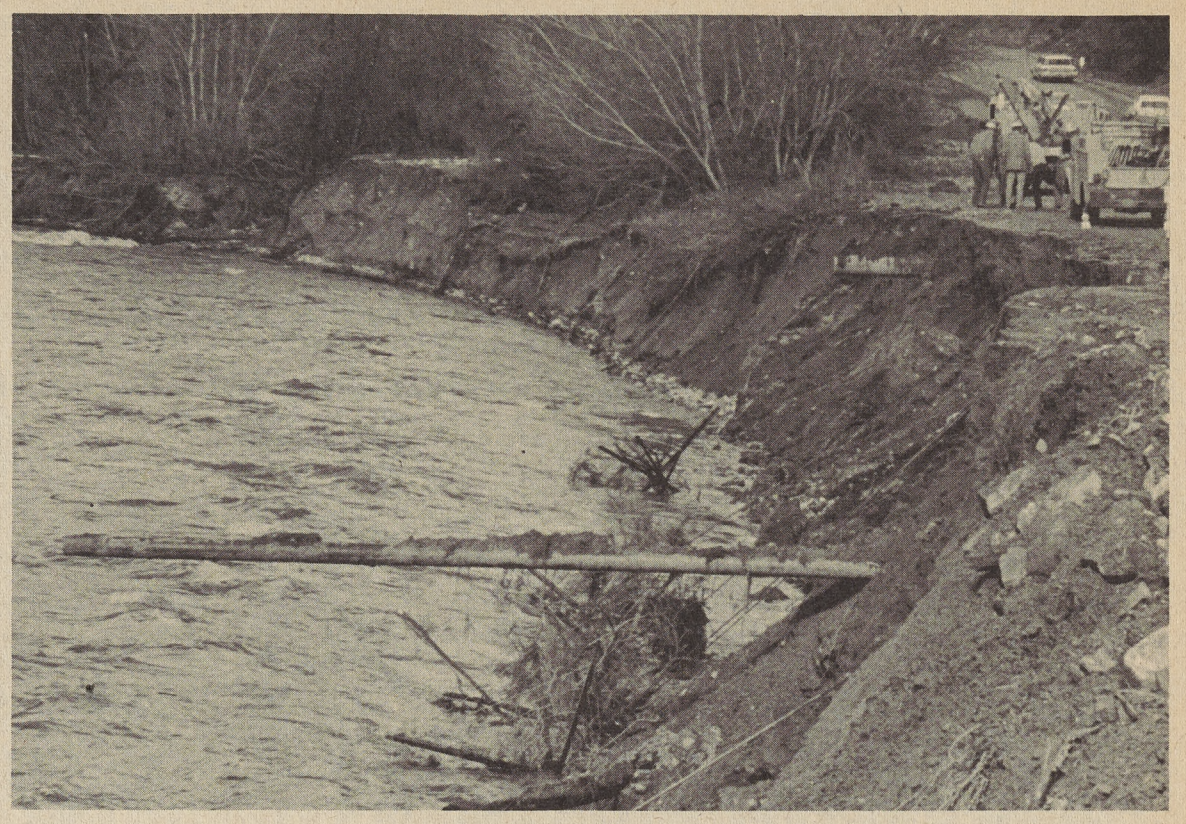
Vol. VIII, No. 3 January 29, 1969 10 Cents Carmel Valley, California



BRIDGE, near the Farm Center, as it appeared Sunday afternoon. It has been further weakened, but is expected to be restored to service before the end of the week (weather permitting). Many were marooned south of the Carmel River when the bridge was declared unsafe by county officials.

Valley endangered by torrential rains

Carmel Valley is still fending off one of the worst storms in history. Rain was still falling on Tuesday when the Outlook went to press, marking the 13th consecutive day of rain. Much work remained to be done in repairing roads and bridges and in renovating water-sogged yards. For other pictures and a story of the flooding, see pages 2, 3, 18 and 19.



CARMEL VALLEY ROAD threatened. These pictures show how the surging Carmel River weakened the Valley's main road near Miramonte Road. The picture on the left was taken Saturday afternoon and the river is eating steadily into the north bank near C.V. Road. By Monday afternoon, as shown in the picture above, the bank has crumbled away even more. As a result, as shown in picture at right, the pavement has weakened, cracks appear, and the highway department closed off one entire lane. Repairs await subsidence of the river.

Bridges damaged, roads weakened,

Rocks, mud, water and debris gushed down from the lofty slopes of Carmel Valley last week-end disrupting traffic on main roads and by-ways, and causing damage to residential property.

It climaxed 10 consecutive days of rainfall, that totaled almost 12 inches.

Hardest hit by the assault was the Robinson Canyon bridge at Farm Center when it buckled under the weight of floating logs and debris jamming on its piers. Residents were alerted at 4 a.m. to move their cars across to the Farm Center.

Foot traffic is open on the bridge and it is hoped with the arrival of army engineers to have logs and rubbish removed and the bridge propped up and open to one-way auto traffic in a day or two.

Several other bridges fell to the raging torrent Sunday.

The green steel bridge to the San Juan Ranch opposite the valley entrance to Miramonte road was carried down stream.

A steel and concrete foot bridge at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club had to be dynamited by the Army to prevent backed-up flood waters from spreading.

GRADE TRAFFIC

The Salinas-Monterey highway was closed near the entrance to the Laguna Seca Ranch to the Laureles Grade entrance, causing traffic to be routed over the grade via Carmel Valley.

Early Sunday morning the Hitchcock canyon creek overflowed its banks and tore down the road bringing tree limbs, and rocks, washing out footbridges, leaving heavy mud, and eventually cutting a new road to the river. A portion of the John Hallisey home was flooded.

The home of Ester J. Jones became an island at Robles del Rio when the bridge fell into the river.

BUENA VISTA

Buena Vista del Rio was flooded from water pouring down the mountain. Water was pumped out through a large hose running out at Rosie's Cracker Barrel. Cars were blocked in the area for several days and access was by a horse trail.

The river bed widened and threatened the road near the Miramonte entrance on Valley Road. Large cracks have appeared and traffic is being diverted to the shoulder. Marquard Road was threatened when a culvert overflowed washing out a large garden belonging to the Harfst residence. Long parallel cracks have appeared in the road over the culvert.

The roar of mud and stones awakened residents on Via Milpitas early Monday as a flooded culvert broke loose at El Caminite and Chaparral roads, flooding gardens and damaging the home of Harold Sand.

No damage was done to the Trail and Saddle Club although the gates were closed to the curious, according to Robert Angel, president, in order to keep the non-members from entering.

The Carmel Valley Fire Department maintained a round-the-clock vigil, but reported no injuries. They gave assistance to a young boy marooned on an island when he rode a raft downstream. A rope and harness were thrown to him and he was hoisted out.

ARMY ARRIVES

Four teams of Corps of Engineers' were dispatched by the Army to the flooded areas of Salinas and Carmel Rivers. The Carmel River peaked at 5:30 Sunday morning according to Loran Bunte, Jr., Monterey County Flood Control engineer. He said the two-man teams will check for damages on the Carmel and Pajaro Rivers.

Snow and hail

Residents of the Valley and Peninsula saw some kind of omen Tuesday when both hail and snow (at very low levels) came on the heels of the extensive rainstorms.

Monterey had considerable hail early in the morning.

And many parts of Carmel Valley, especially the mid-valley area, received an unexpected blanket of snow by mid-morning Tuesday.

The snow not only fell but stayed on the ground for several hours to a level below the 1,000 foot mark.

(There wasn't enough for skiing, one disbelieving Valleyite remarked.)

The snow came after intermittent but heavy rain showers Tuesday morning — adding to the already soggy January record.

As of 8 o'clock this morning, another .17 had fallen overnight, bringing the season total to 17.83 inches. At this time one year ago, the season total was 6.06 inches. And it appeared that a half inch or more could be expected before another 24 hours pass.

Flood victim found

The death of Mrs. Delores Bicknell, 39 of Gridley, was attributed to drowning according to the Monterey county sheriff's office.

Her body was found Sunday morning on the bank of the flood-ravaged Carmel River by James Stewart who lives in the Robinson Canyon area.

TO HONOR FREEMAN

Mrs. Mark Thomas has invited members of the Board of Trustees from the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies to a luncheon honoring new Valley residents, Ambassador and Mrs. Fulton Freeman.

Ambassador Freeman, who is retiring from thirty years distinguished service with the diplomatic corps (an ambassador to Mexico and Colombia), has been appointed the new president of the Institute.

Invited to attend and extend their personal welcomes to the Peninsula on February 1 at the Thomas home on Scarlett Road are Mrs. Richard Bennett, John Bouldry, Col. Allen Griffin, the Countess of Kinnoull, Charles B. Kramer, Mrs. Euclid McBride, Thomas E. McCullough, Joseph Cotten, Robert U. Rickleff, Mrs. Wesley R. Heard, Harold Marqus, Malcolm Millard, John F. Dougherty, and Calvin C.B. Wheeler. Rear Admiral (ret.) C. Tod Singleton, also a board member, is reportedly ill and unable to attend.

MOORES ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Phillip Walker entertained guests at her Flight Road home over the weekend who are in the process of moving from Garden City, Long Island, to Palo Alto, Capt. and Mrs. James Moore. Captain Moore (U.S. Navy Reserve ret.) is with the Fairchild Electronics Corp. and has been transferred to the West Coast.

SIXTH BIRTHDAY

ANOTHER BIRTHDAY PARTY

Ethyl and Dick Radowicz made it a family affair when they planned the day honoring the third birthday of their daughter, Tanya. A red and white circus theme complete with a birthday cake topped with a carousel trimmed with wild animals appealed to the youngsters while their parents enjoyed luncheon at a table set for the adults.

Arriving on Aliso Road for the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Ken Tsukushi and son, Gregg, of Redwood City; Mr. and Mrs. Zane Speiser and daughter, Tara; Mrs. Barbara Ascarate and son, Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Hans Doelman and sons, Eric, Jon and Steven; Mrs. Frank DeAmaral Jr. and Gwyn Pat; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oross and Glen.

NEWCOMERS

A warm Valley welcome to Mr. and Mrs. William Meyer, who are living in temporary quarters at 19 Via Contenta. Vera and Bill are from Palos Heights, near Chicago and will be moving on February 1 to 67 Poppy Road to occupy the Arthur McMillan home. Art, who owns the Halfway House on Lighthouse, is moving into Monterey.

YOUTH GROUP PARTIES

Dinner and the theater was the sophisticated activity enjoyed last weekend by members of the Junior High Youth Group of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel.

Accompanied by their advisers, Mr. and Mrs. Lucky Lawson, the members had dinner and attended a performance of "Guys and Dolls" at the Studio Theatre. Attending were Leslie Condren, Terri Hendrix, Jana Deck, Enid Rauber, Sandi Harber, Susie Kaminske, Kathy Draper, Heidi Hattan, Kim Baker, Leigh Ann Cecka and Liz Korver.

DR. LINSDALE'S DEATH

The distinguished career of the founder of the Hastings Wildlife Reservation at Jamesburg ended last Monday with the death of Dr. Jean Linsdale. Formerly a cattle ranch, the 1,640 acres which comprise the project were donated to the Museum of Vertebrate Zoology of the University of California by Mrs. Frances Simes Hastings. As benefactress, Mrs. Hastings was said to have given financial assistance to some of the bills which exceeded $100,000.00 a year.

From 1937 until his retirement in 1960, Dr. Linsdale headed the Upper Valley Wildlife Refuge where the 200 vertebrate animals who live there are studied without human interference.

The 66 year old native of Kansas graduated from the University of Kansas in 1924 and went on to obtain his doctor of philosophy degree at the University of California in Berkeley. He taught there and pursued his research work in Zoology at the Museum until Hastings was established.

His findings have led to 160 publications dealing with the natural history of vertebrate animals. Among his works are "The California Ground Squirrel", "A Heard of Mule Deer", written with Quentin Tomich, "The Vertebrate Animals of Point Lobos Preserve", co-authored with Joseph Grinell, and "The Dusky Footed Wood Rat" written with Linsdale and Lloyd P. Trevis Jr.,

He was a life member of the Audubon Society, the Cooper Ornithological Society, and held fellowships in the American Ornithologists Union and the California Academy of Sciences.

Dr. Linsdale, who resided at 657 Kirkwood Drive in Salinas, died at the Salinas Memorial Hospital following a long illness.

He is survived by his widow, Mary Ann Linsdale, their son, Dr. Donald Linsdale of El Cerrito and three grandchildren.

Anyone wishing to contribute to his memory may make a donation to the Salinas YMCA building fund.

MAKE CARNIVAL PLANS

Mrs. Leon Mink, 1969 chairman for the Tularcitos Parents Club Carnival, invited homeroom mothers to a koffee last week at her Sage Road home. Lyde announced during the planning session that March 22 is the date which has been set aside for the annual club benefit.

"Out Of This World" is the theme which will give booth chairmen a fresh new area of untapped ideas for activities to tempt the Carnival crowd in search of a day of fun and entertainment.

HORAN LEAVES POST

The five children of the Laurence Horans are looking forward to February 7 and their father's resignation as western regional director of the Office of Economic Opportunity in San Francisco, from which he has been commuting to spend the weekends with the family at their home on Pancho Way and Brookdale Drive.

The position (an appointment by Sargent Shriver in May of 1967) has given the Valleyite authority over programs totaling more than $100 million annually in Oregon, California, Nevada, Washington, Hawaii, Arizona, and Alaska. His present position followed a Peace Corps directorship accepted in 1964 in Colombia and Costa Rica.

The Horan family lived until New Year's in Carmel where they were residents of the Farr house. Mr. Horan plans to return to private law practice with his Carmel firm, Farr, Horan, and Lloyd.

ENGAGEMENT

An engagement announcement of interest to the "Swim Set" of the Carmel area is that of Wanda Lynn Woicekowski of Seaside to Hallie Lake Cox, who is presently taking his basic Army training at Fort Lewis, Wash. Hallie, an all-American college diver, was a popular member of the team of instructors who taught diving and served as life guard at both the Valley and Carmel High School pools last summer. His pretty fiancee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Woicekowski and the great great granddaughter of Big Sur pioneer residents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pfeiffer. Hallie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gib Cox, also reside in Seaside.

EDITORIAL

Too much weather

It seems incredible, but California has been declared a 'disaster area' by President Nixon.

We here in Carmel Valley saw the heavens open up and dump an almost endless torrent of rain during the past two weeks.

Over 11 inches – almost enough for an entire season.

Quite a few people suffered from the flooding waters.

But we were lucky compared to those who lived in other coastal areas to the south, and even in Central California.

But we saw the Carmel River, a gushing, angry stream, so overladen that it extended its banks.

Luckily the upriver dams kept the stream from causing major damage. But it pointed up the need for even more flood-controls, and how lucky we were not to have had a disaster in our tight little valley.

The problem has come up before the board of supervisors, and we hope that attention is directed at the problem. There has been major growth in the Valley, and there is need for additional protection, above what was considered adequate as recently as 10 years ago.

Carmel Valley enjoyed excellent cooperation from all public agencies and public utilities during the period of emergency. While some services were curtailed for brief periods, there was no effort spared in restoring services in the face of severe weather conditions; the highways are endangered at several points, and all were carefully watched.

But the erratic course that the flood waters took no doubt will be carefully examined by the authorites to take preventive action.

Carmel Valley, this past week clearly shows, can ill-afford any careless or casual changes in the natural terrain. The perils that can result, even though the deluges may be most infrequent, are terrifying indeed.

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

As teachers of a course that has raised its share of eyebrows in our community, we and our students would like to thank you for the coverage you have given our CHS Humanities program.

In a time of campus turmoil and what some see as educational revolution, communication between taxpayers, parents and their school system is not only vital, but critical.

Your coverage of our course as well as other educational programs in our community, has provided an invaluable service.

We, like our colleagues throughout the district, compliment you and your staff on the fine job you are doing in helping to close the so-called communication gap between students and the people who support them.

Sincerely,
Humanities Teachers

CARMEL VALLEY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
BOARD OF DIRECTORS MEETING

Next Meeting:..... February 6, 1969 – 12:00 noon
Place:..... Rippling River Resort
Luncheon:.....$2.25 (Tax and Tip Included)

The meeting is open to all members, their guests and prospective members. Please call Rae Black at 659-4253 for reservations.

As a businessman doing business in Carmel Valley, you have a lot at stake in the future of this particular Valley. A great deal needs to be done, many things need to be looked after – if Carmel Valley is to shape its growth in a way unharmful to its beauty and tranquility. Yet, as a businessman, you need and want an environment that will help your business to prosper.

The Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce is here to help. IT IS THE ONLY ORGANIZATION DIRECTLY REPRESENTING YOUR CARMEL VALLEY BUSINESS. No other organization is set up for that specific purpose. No other organization works specifically for the Carmel Valley business community, from Carmel Rancho to Cachagua.

How does the Chamber do this? Through its 21-member Board of Directors, elected from and by the membership, the Chamber's status is officially recognized by the County Supervisors and its Planning Commission and its advisory boards for Carmel Valley. The Chamber has standing committees to act in such matters as Planning, Promotion, Special Events, Roads and Signs, Parks and Beautification. It takes positions on conservation, law enforcement, youth activities, zoning, education, and taxes.

Carmel Valley is a geographical entity. It extends from Highway One to the reaches beyond Cachagua. Historically, it is the original Carmel. Its name has as much color and attractiveness as any in the entire State of California. It is becoming more and more of a tourist attraction on its own merits. The name Carmel Valley on a label or return address carries with it the colorful impact of a quality area, an area that is real, with real people in it.

These are facts which motivate the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce. However, the Chamber is only as strong as its general membership will allow it to be. We are asking that you join the Chamber. As a member you will be kept informed by special letter of what the Chamber is doing in behalf of the business community. You will be asked to participate, to present your opinions and your ideas. And you may rest assured that your voice will be heard.

The Chamber's ONLY REAL SOURCE of money to carry on its activities is the annual dues of $25. Not one of the Board of Directors receives compensation in any way. Every one of the directors is an elected volunteer, donating his time and effort. Every cent of revenue is used to carry on the Chamber's work.

So, if you ask what can the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce do for you, I hope the foregoing has given you some idea. Organization, particularly in an unincorporated area like ours, makes for strength and impact. Please join with us in building a stronger and more effective Chamber, working for the business community of Carmel Valley.

Sincerely,
R.L. Kvenild, President
Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce

JUSTICE

Should I be king or president or chief,
I'd institute reforms and such relief as needed to alleviate the stress of putting up with things we can't suppress.

When unexpected visitors drop in who could have phoned ahead to save chagrin, how nice to serve them strychnine in their tea with polish and precise legality.

Or what about the borrowers who seek a loan until say Tuesday of next week?
Let's put them on the rack or have them shot unless they pay it back right on the dot.

Consider those invited home to dine at eight, but don't show up 'til half past nine:
serve meal as planned, then turn the bulldog
loose because the law now sanctions no excuse.

Should I be chief or president or king,
I'd promise everybody everything;
but most of all, supreme among the rest,
I'd first eliminate the social pest!

Under the Yum Yum Tree

Studio Theatre's new play

When the Lawrence Roman comedy "Under the Yum Yum Tree" opens at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant in Carmel on Friday, it will bring Brian Jarman back to the local stage in the role of Hogan, the playboy landlord who is always on the make as far as his female tenants are concerned.

Jarman was last seen in "A Shot In The Dark" at the Circle Theatre where he also played in "Don Juan In Hell" and in "The Circle."

Before moving here, he was active in radio, television and community theatre in Phoenix and performed for the Weathervane and Coach House Theatres in Ikron, Ohio.

Pam Keller takes the part of Robin, the Berkeley student who wants to experiment with a platonic living arrangement before entering into real marriage. New to the Peninsula stage, her previous major credits include "The Country Girl," "Dark At The Top Of The Stairs," "Night Must Fall," "Heartbreak House" and "Everybody Loves Opal."

Rick Poe appears as Dave, Robin's reluctant partner in her premarital menage, who naturally tangles with Hogan at first meeting. Poe was seen last fall in "The Star-Spangled Girl" at the Studio, following roles in "Wait Until Dark" and "In White America."

Emma Jane Hansen rounds out the cast as Irene, Robin's youthful aunt whose previous experience with Hogan has left her wary of his charms. She made her local stage debut two years ago in the Studio production of "Janus."

"Under The Yum Yum Tree," directed by Dave Kirk, will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights at the Studio through March 15. Reservations for dinner and show or show alone may be made at 624-1661 or 624-2321.

ISHVANI, INDIAN DANCER

Dancer returns to MPC

Ishvani, dancer from India, will make a return appearance at Monterey Peninsula College Friday, Jan. 31, at 8:30 p.m. in the college music hall.

Traditional dances will be performed including Fables of India from Panchantatra, Haiku, and variations of the "Mudras", the language of gesture. Accompanying her on the sitar will be Gareth Loy Chandra.

Tickets will be available at the door or may be picked up in advance at the college community services office.

Art Workshops to be held at Sunset

A four-day wood block workshop will be given February 10 to 14 under the instruction of Dick Crispo in Sunset Center cafeteria from 9 a.m. to 12:30.

Classes will be limited to 15 students, both beginners and advanced.

Advance reservations are being taken for a four-day oil painting workshop to be held during Easter vacation March 31 to April 3, under the direction of Raymond Brose. The course will offer instruction in landscape, still life, figure and abstract for beginners through advanced painters.

NICANOR ZABALETA

Symphony to feature harpist

Nicanor Zabaleta, harpist, will appear as guest soloist for the third concert of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra season to be held Feb. 3 in Salinas at the high school auditorium, and at the Sunset Center auditorium in Carmel on Feb. 4 at 8:30 p.m.

The Spanish harpist will be featured as soloist in Handel's "Concerto for Harp and Strings" and Joaquin Rodrigo's "Concerto Serenata for Harp and Orchestra".

Tickets can be obtained on the evening of the performance at Salinas high school box office, or by telephoning the Symphony office in Carmel, 624-4125.

ONLY CLASS OF ITS KIND IN THE NATION

Carmel High students study fire-fighting

Thirty two students are learning the practical science of fire fighting at Carmel High School.

Carmel High is believed to be the only high school in the country to offer "fire science" as a regular course. Now in its third year, the unique course is earning national attention.

Instructor Paul T. Artellan, who is also an engineer on the paid fireman staff of the Carmel Fire Dept., for example, recently received an inquiry from Oklahoma State College for information on his curricula, to help with its instruction.

The immediate, practical knowledge gained, plus Artellan's enthusiasm and ability as a teacher, are probably the reasons for the interest beyond expectation in the course. Eight students are now taking advanced, second-year instruction, and 24, including one girl, are in the beginning first-year course.

"Girls are welcome," Artellan added. "They're needed in dispatching jobs, handling alarms and doing secretarial work." The lone girl student, Becky Wright, assists with Artellan's secretarial needs for the class.

STARTED IN 1964

The original course was started back in 1964 in an effort to provide more occupational training. Then-Fire Chief Robert Smith of the Carmel Fire Dept. taught the class for a year until he left the Carmel Fire Dept., and instruction was then taken over in the spring of 1967 by Artellan, who had been assisting.

At that time, 29 students signed up, about twice as many as anticipated. It's no snap course, for there are weekly quizzes and a lot of information is dispensed in the curriculum worked out by Artellan. He further prepared himself as an instructor by earning a teaching credential by taking a course offered in Salinas by the California State Dept. of Education and the Bureau of Trade and Industrial Education.

Seven of last year's students, Artellan is proud to report, are and have been in the field of fire fighting. Two served in military service in fire-fighting during the summer, two are in military service in fire-fighting service, one of these in the Air Corps and the other in the Marine Corps. Two are in their three-month probationary period as volunteers in the Carmel Fire Dept. and another is a member of the Carmel Highlands Volunteer Dept.

OPPORTUNITIES

"The opportunities are growing in fire fighting," Artellan declared. "Consider the fact that about two-thirds of the firemen in the country are volunteers and that many volunteer or partial volunteer departments are growing and adding paid firemen."

He said that the days of the easy-going, poker-playing fireman are long gone. "There's more to do and learn these days," he explained. "Inspections, pre-fire planning, studying new methods and equipment and first aid are some of the things to make it a full, interesting job."

Artellan finds plenty of interesting material to present to his class, which meets daily for an hour just before lunch at the High School. Included are waterflow and hydraulics, chemistry, basic electricity, mechanics and first aid.

Class members help with fire drills at the High School, which are now taken seriously and carried out efficiently. They also have assisted with fire drills at Mission School and plan to help at the Middle School.

Artellan was full of praise for the cooperation he receives from surrounding fire departments in training his students.

Student firemen report to the Carmel Fire Station on many drill nights to learn practical application of their classroom course.

The young firefighters run through drills, including such work as pulling a big hose out, using basic tools, forceable entry, ventilation, first aid and a variety of other skills. They are even asked to pull weekend duty, under supervision, to observe the actual procedure and duties required of professional firemen.

FIELD TRIPS

Field trips have been made to the State Division of Forestry station on the Pacific Grove cutoff, and State Forestry men have further served as visiting lecturers in the school classroom. Other lecturers have been from the police service and American Red Cross.

The class also visited the Carmel Highlands Fire Dept. on several occasions for demonstrations of equipment. Other field trips have been made to both the Monterey Fire Dept. for a demonstration of its ladder truck and to the Pacific Grove Dept. to witness its tall, new snorkel.

Most of the students last year participated in a junior forestry and conservation conference held at the U.S. Forest Service Arroyo Seco station and supervised by the American Legion. Carmel Kiwanis contributed $100 to sponsor 20 students and the Carmel American Legion post financed another four students.

The day after one of the big Cannery Row fires, the class visited the ruins on an inspection field trip.

The fire science class is the responsibility of Howard Byrne, director of work experience at Carmel High.

"Largely, because of Artellan's dedication and interest," Byrne commented, "our fire science class is very successful. As a result of his business-like and sophisticated presentation, students have identified with his badge and gained respect for public service occupations. This is a kind of concept that is badly needed in the students' make-believe world, which has the college graduate representing the only kind of success."

65 FEET HIGH rode members of Carmel High School's fire science class on the new Pacific Grove Fire Dept's. snorkel, which they visited on a recent field trip. Each student had a chance to be lifted up in the basket on the tower. Outlook photographer George T.C. Smith also rode it up, as witness the view down to the students below. (Photo by George T.C. Progress in Special Training Classes
AT CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL

BY DAVID J. WATKINS

An encouraging report on the current program and future plans to improve vocational and technical training here on the Peninsula was given to the Carmel Unified School District, meeting last week at the Carmel High School.

The Board also heard a progress report on the Tularcitos kindergarten addition, and accepted the annual audit.

The meeting was called to order by President Steven Sassoon, and the warrant list for the period December 4-27, 1968 was approved. In a total expenditure of $78,418.00, major items were a contract payment of $33,250 for the Tularcitos addition, hospital insurance premiums of $5940, $4550 to P.G.&E., $2148 for the installation of spotlights and stage lights in the Mariquita Brey Hall at the High School, $1420 for instructional supplies, and $1000 to the California Test Bureau for test scoring services.

The employment of a Monterey District teacher, Miss Maxine Propp, was authorized as a replacement for Mrs. Romayne Hill, who begins a sabatical leave this semester. Approval was also given to four substitute teachers: Mrs. Cheryl Berkes, Mrs. Gloria Gill, Mrs. Jerri Helmreich, and Mrs. Flora Rotchford.

Date for the election of two members of the Governing Board of the Carmel Unified School District was set for Tuesday, April 15th.

The annual audit was presented by the firm of Heckenliable, Apger and Co., who announced that the audit was satisfactory and that they had no recommendations to make concerning it.

Board members Clayton Neill asked whether insurance coverage was adequate, bearing in mind the increase in building costs from $8 to $20 per square foot over the past eight years. The company's representative assured Mr. Neill that the policies were in line with the insurance companies' recommended coverage, and Business Manager Walter Hinton stated that with each new piece of equipment or building the insurance had been extended to cover it.

With existing insurance policies expiring on April 27th, the Board approved a request to advertise and obtain bids for district insurance. Present premiums run at $13,327, of which approximately half goes toward fire coverage of buildings and contents valued at $5 million.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE

The Board then moved on to hear items of information, first of which was a report on the Peninsula Regional Occupational Program, presented by Dr. Harris Taylor. Dr. Taylor stated that the program, financed by a two cent tax imposed for the year 1967, was aimed at improving vocational counseling and technical training on the Peninsula. This year saw the introduction of aptitude tests to guide students into the field for which they're best suited, and analysis of the tests was used to match local job requirements and opportunities with the student seeking employment.

Various training courses are offered, currently at Monterey High School and certain shops and on-site locations, for Saturday mornings, commencing February 1st. Dr. Taylor reported that enrollment had been very encouraging in the courses for nurse's aides and orderlies, automotive maintenance, retail selling, and light vehicle equipment operation, although the course on construction technology (carpentry) had to be postponed for lack of participants. Especially high enrollment came from Carmel High, who not only filled their own allottment, but had a waiting list sufficient to fill the quotas of the other schools.

Monterey, Carmel, and Seaside High Schools each receive $1000 to instigate experimental programs of their own choosing, (Pacific Grove decided to use their grant for their "on-the-job training" program), and Dr. Taylor said that serious consideration was being given to establishing a graphics course at Carmel High, dealing with printing, layout, photography, etc. He estimated that $15,000 would set up an excellent printing shop, which could also be used for the district's printing requirements. Board member Rev. James Brock asked whether each district could specialize in a certain course, thereby avoiding the duplication of the other districts' efforts. Dr. Taylor mentioned that the Monterey school had excellent facilities for the automotive course, and that he had received full co-operation from the other districts throughout the establishment of this program.

The board then heard a report from Mr. Hinton on the proposed tennis courts for Carmel Middle School. He said that studies regarding the site and the cost had been completed, and that construction would begin in late April.

The approved design calls for four courts in one enclosure – this to facilitate instruction – and a first-class professional blacktop surface, as this costs relatively little more than the usual finish for school courts.

VERY GENTLE is the SPCA's description of this alert young fellow, a collie-shepherd mix. A male, he's five months old, and is looking for a happy home to brighten up with his friendly tail-wagging. (Photo by Virginia and Louis Kay)

He's yours for the inviting; just pick him up at the new SPCA headquarters, "La Vega Verde Animal Welfare Center," on the Monterey-Salinas highway, opposite the Laguna Seca race track entrance. Phone 373-2631 for adoption proceedings. Hours are 10 to 5, except Thursday and Sunday.

Mr. Hinton also reported that turf-laying at Carmelo School had been completed, together with an automatic sprinkling system.

NEWS FROM TULARCITOS

The work on the Tularcitos kindergarten addition was progressing on schedule, according to Dr. Taylor, and a visit to the school by the Educational Facilities Laboratory, of New York (associated with the Ford Foundation) was forthcoming. The company regards the new addition as a pilot project in better planning for kindergartens which could serve as a model for the rest of the country, and therefore are considering an investment of their funds in these ideas.

Dr. Taylor illustrated the project by referring to the "three dimensions" of kindergarten requirements: those of physical, social, and intellectual development, and the necessity to install apparatus to achieve maximum development in all these fields.

Tularcitos also plans to have an area for animals, planting beds for the children to grow their own flowers, a shallow pond for the study of plant life and fish, and a nature trail along the arroyo near the school.

Branson tells Valley plans

Meeting a series of challenges head on, Willard Branson, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, spoke before a spirited gathering of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association when election of new officers was held last week.

His suggestion that it is time to revise the Carmel Valley master plan and break the present one-acre building site in the valley because of population explosion met with divergent views from the audience.

Branson was presented with a series of questions which brought out announcement of several improvement projects planned for the future. He said that the four-lane plans for the Valley road between the grade and Farm Center will probably be on the 1969-70 priority list.

Los Laureles grade is under study as a scenic highway and could be the first county road in the state to be so established, he said, and that a similar study will be requested for the rest of the Carmel Valley road to the village.

The supervisor stated that a dam site on the Carmel River may be selected from several sites under consideration, and that the plan will be committed this year.

"Recreation and irrigation must be included in these plans in order to qualify for certain state and federal funds," he added, "but I'm satisfied that we can make this a recreation area without speedboats and water skiing."

In answers to questions posed as to whether the "G" zone can be eliminated and whether 2-1/2 acre minimum building sites can be established, Branson said that he considers this minimum and a slope density formula as virtually the same thing, and added that it would apply primarily to the hillsides.

After many pros and cons, Branson suggested that the incoming board of the CVPOA initiate a move to review the master plan, that he would appoint a county committee, and that four-lane traffic, recreation areas and the results of dam construction all be taken into consideration.

Paul E. Cooper, newly-elected vice president, presided at the meeting in the absence of Roy Kaminske, new president.

Margaret Bouck

Word was received here this week of the recent death in Los Angeles of Margaret Bouck, sister of Mrs. W.B.G. Hatch, Rancho Road, Carmel Valley.

Miss Bouck was a frequent visitor to the valley, and has many friends in the Peninsula area.

Interment will be in Millbank, South Dakota.

TO THE EDITOR

I, Evelyn Rhoades, am appearing in Court in my own defense on Jan. 29, to answer the charge of, "did willfully and unlawfully fail, refuse, and neglect to yield the right-of-way to all vehicles approaching on the highway."

On Friday, Dec. 13th at 7:30 p.m., I stopped at a point where I could see as I left the Bank of America parking lot. Then I proceeded out into the road, passed the trees and mound of high earth where a car was parked to where I could see up the road to make a left turn. An accident occurred. There were no witnesses.

This accident stimulated my views and those of many others to speak aloud the fact that this exit is a dangerous, blind hazard and since one of the large trees is supposed to be dead, I wrote to Dr. Marcucci of the County Planning Board as well as the County Road Commission to urge a correction. Many of you have complained of "narrow escapes" and "close calls" at this exit.

My insurance carrier paid for the damages done to the uninsured driver of the other car and I must pay the $100 deductible on repairs to my own car (as well as be without it now beginning the second week while it is repaired). I could have hit a child on a bicycle coming from the library next door at another time – or you might some day in the future.

If you think there should be a correction at this site, would you sign the petition for correction which I shall have daily from 12 to 1 p.m. at the Chatterbox or at your home if you call me mornings from 7:00 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. at home or after 4:30 weekdays – 659-2071.

Why be just a citizen who sees things are bad and comments with hope they'll improve? If we work instead of talk of things that should be changed, perhaps we can make this a better world.

Thank you for your time in reading this letter and your consideration of its content.

Evelyn Rhoades

CLUB ACTIVITIES

C.V. Women's Club

The Carmel Valley Women's Club will hold a luncheon meeting February 5 at 12:00 noon at the Casa Carmelo.

Mrs. Howard Vail and Mrs. Robert Stoney, hostesses for the afternoon, have planned a bridge party. Members are invited to make up a table, and to provide their own cards, score pads, and pencils.

Exhibit sponsored by two museums

"Wine in the Arts" will be featured at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art in Carmel during the month of February. It will be presented in conjunction with an exhibition at the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History which will display "Art in Wine-Making."

The exhibit was organized by Mrs. Mary Jane Spence, curator of the Monterey Peninsula museum, and Vern Yadon, curator of the Pacific Grove Museum.

The collection, so large it could not be exhibited together because of space limitations, tells the story of wine through the ages and emphasizes the symbolic and mythological aspects of the grape as seen through the artists' eyes and the artistic elements of the wine-making process. Both exhibits contain works of the masters of all eras with drawings and prints that stretch from German woodcuts of the 1400's through contemporary Picassos.

JAMES CURTIS AMEN

Memorial services were held last week for James Curtis Amen, 71, a resident of Hacienda Carmel in Carmel Valley for the past four years.

He came to the valley from Fallbrook where he was owner and manager of an avocado grove, a member of the Community Chest Board, of the zoning commission, and of Calave Farm Bureau.

In addition to his wife Adelaide, he is survived by a son, Jonathan Amen of Napa; a daughter, Mrs. Don (Josephine) Ulen of San Jose; a sister Miss Edith Amen of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; and six grandchildren.

Wolves GRA-Y Club of C.V. has 13 members

The Wolves GRA-Y Club of Carmel Valley now has 13 very active members.

On Thursday, January 23rd, the club was formally inducted into the YMCA program. This impressive induction ceremony was held at the Monterey Presbyterian Church.

The boys inducted are Tommy Bordonaro, President; Bill Szeremeta, Vice President; Danny Azcarate, Secretary; Ronnie Trout, Treasurer; Don McKenzie, Chaplain; Dennis Tavares, Sgt. at Arms; Ben Olson, Paul Rauber, John Mirani, Phil Wright, Larry Ocampo, Peter Massaglia and Kelly Bowser.

The entire club will spend the weekend of Feb. 14, 15, and 16 in Yosemite National Park. This is a father and son outing and all the dads are hoping to be able to go. All of the boys will be there even tho their Dads can't make it. Anyone interested in GRA-Y may contact the Monterey YMCA office.

Wednesday evening, January 22, the club met at Phil Wright's home. The snow trip was again thoroughly discussed. The special event of the evening were slides of Yosemite National Park shown and narrated by former Park Ranger Sterling Mummert. The club enjoyed the narration and slides and they highly recommend them for any club of any age group.

GRA-Y parents will meet Friday, January 31, at 7:30 p.m. at the Mal Tavares home on El Caminito. This is a most important meeting. Details for the snow trip will be given out.

All Saints classes have holiday

Boys and girls of All Saints Episcopal Day School will have a holiday this week beginning at noon Thursday through Friday, Jan. 31, while teachers attend Episcopal School Institute being held at St. Matthews Church in San Mateo.

Rt. Rev. Kilmer Meyers, Bishop of California, will speak informally to the group attending on Thursday evening. The opening address will be given by John Holt, author of two current best sellers on education "How Children Learn" and "How Children Fail".

Reindeer attracts Valley school children

It is not an overgrown puppy, but a very young female reindeer that is being seen at the Carmel Valley Farm Center these days.

This gentle deer is led about on a leash by her master, 23-year-old Robert Jonasson, who resides on Berwick Drive. Her friendly and affectionate nature has proved a great attraction to all the children in the area.

The namesake of Santa's reindeer has a heavy soft coat as did her Lapland ancestors. Her big, brown cow-like eyes crave the affection she is so generously given by the young and the curious. Although 11-months old, she has not yet lost her baby teeth nor her spikes.

She lives in a corral with a Shetland pony and horse, Paycheck, owned by 13-year-old Susan Smith, sister of Jonasson.

Vixen came to live at the home of the Richard J. Smith's, Jonasson's parents, Christmas eve when she was purchased from a Salinas dealer. According to her owner, she is very receptive to obedience training.

A versatile young man, Jonasson works as a technical director for a Salinas TV station. He is known in the valley as an organist, having helped with the installation of the pipe organ at the Baptist Church on Schulte Road, and having played at St. Dunstan's. He works on and plays pipe organs as a hobby, and finds time to be an airplane pilot too.

He has completed three years at Monterey Peninsula College and plans to continue his studies at California Polytechnic.

Jonasson is the son of U.S. Marine Captain Robert Lewis Jonasson, who was killed in a plane accident in 1952.

Plans underway for Tularcitos space carnival

"Out of This World" will be the theme of the Tularcitos carnival, it was announced by Mrs. Leon Mink, chairman of this year's event, which will be held on the school grounds Saturday afternoon, March 22.

The proceeds from this event, which will feature space, are used to purchase equipment and educational supplies not included in the present school budget.

A variety of booths of interest to all age groups is being organized by room mothers. New innovations this year will include a space tunnel, pet show, and rides on the American Legion train.

A continuous puppet show will be given by Mrs. Richard King for pre-schoolers. Tularcitos students, teenagers and adults will compete in decorated cakes as part of the cake walk booth.

A white elephant sale will be limited to specific items, according to Mrs. Lloyd Swanson, chairman of the sale. She asks that items such as workable appliances, children's clothing, tools, toys, books, records, dishes, kitchen utensils, vases and plants be brought to the school and marked "carnival".

Food will be served throughout the afternoon at the "Dina-mite", and a family spaghetti dinner will be served from 4:30 to 6:30 in the school cafeteria, it was announced by co-chairman, Mrs. William Brock and Mrs. Gordon Harlander.

To offer 3 new evening classes for teachers

Evening classes offering courses for graduate credit by Pepperdine College will be given during the spring semester.

Registration will be conducted at the first class meeting. Classes are scheduled from 7 to 10 p.m. one evening a week and give the student three hours of credit.

Philosophy of Education (Ed 1680) will be given at Carmel High School, Room 25, beginning Tuesday, Feb. 4. This course will be taught by Arthur Gumbrell, principal of Carmel High School, and will stress the practical aspects of the subject.

Modern Elementary Mathematics (Math 1577) will be given at Monterey Peninsula College, Room LS 102, beginning Thursday, Feb. 6. Dr. Ladis Kovach of Carmel Valley will teach this course and use his own textbook.

Problems in Teaching Reading in the Public Schools (Ed 1665) will be given at Monterey Peninsula College, Room A3, beginning Thursday, Feb. 6. This course will be taught by H. Ross Njaa of Salinas.

These courses are designed to satisfy state credential requirements and are of special interest to teachers. For further information one may call 659-4533.

Mother's Club presents children's fashions

A children's fashion show and a pot-luck luncheon will feature the celebration of the 26th birthday of the Junipero Serra Mothers' Club in Crespi Hall at the Carmel Mission Basilica at 12:30 o'clock, Tuesday, Feb. 4.

Mrs. James Lauderdale, president of the club, and all past-presidents will be the honored guests.

Models for the fashion show will be girls chosen from all eight grades of the Junipero Serra School.

Mrs. Harry E. Scheid III is the general chairman for the luncheon. For reservations call Mrs. Ralph Drummond, 624-5241, or Mrs. John Mahoney, 372-2685.

New poultry farm owner

A new owner will take over the Carmel Valley Poultry ranch on Carmel Valley Road Feb. 1, when Bill Dick will assume the operation.

Dick, who has had a number of interests in chicken ranching, moves here from Saratoga.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. James, present owners, are moving to Monterey.

'Crosby' gets played with rain to spare; Archer wins

Those beautiful golf courses defied the endless rainstorms and the Crosby Clambake came through with just a 1-day delay.

George Archer of Gilroy also shouldered aside the elements to win the 4-day golf circus with a 5-under-par 283.

He is $25,000 richer, and a nifty 71 on the final day (Monday) kept him in front of the 3 best challengers, all just 1 stroke away: Bob Dickson, Dale Douglas and Howie Johnson.

Dickson teamed up with Jack Ging to take the pro-am with a 257; Dickson added $3,500 to his (tie for) second place loot which came to $9,666.

Jack Nicklaus faded during the middle rounds to card a 287 and a 6th place finish good for $4,500.

Last year's tourney champ, Johnny Pott, was far down the list with a 290 and prize money of $1,687. He was in good company at this level. Others with 290's included Billy Casper, Gay Brewer, Miller Barber and Al Geiberger.

And Arnold Palmer? He won $556 with his 293.

Rain fell intermittently throughout the tournament, and the only reason it didn't start on Thursday as scheduled was a flooded condition that prevented most of the golfers from finishing their first round.

All started over again on Friday. The heaviest rains fell during the dark hours, and the courses were all playable during the day even with added intermittent downpours, not to mention winds and even occasional brilliant sunshine.

Crowds were big and gay as if to defy the grey and drippy clouds.

Carmel High rolls to 7th straight win

Those Peerless Padres, soaring all alone atop the Mission Trail Athletic League scramble, pummeled Hollister, 70-52, on the Haybaler Hardwood Friday evening to make it seven victories without defeat in league play.

Next Padre broadcast is this Friday night with all of the varsity game and the last half of the JV action, the program starting at 7:15 over KRSA-FM, 100.7 Mc., when arch-rival Pacific Grove comes to Carmel.

Star Center Bruce Winkler collected 26 points and 14 rebounds to once again dominate the action. He received the newly inaugurated Most Valuable Player Award, originated last week by donor Robert Steinmetz, Carmel Valley pharmacist, who makes the presentation each broadcast.

Padre Guard Mark Spindler, flashing brilliant drives for the hoop, helped with 13. Carmel's half-court press was paced by Winkler, Spindler, and Guard Ross Smith, who tallied 12.

Forward Chris Laiolo rebounded well, made several scoremaking assists, while registering eight. Junior Forward Steve Taylor hit effectively from the outside again with six.

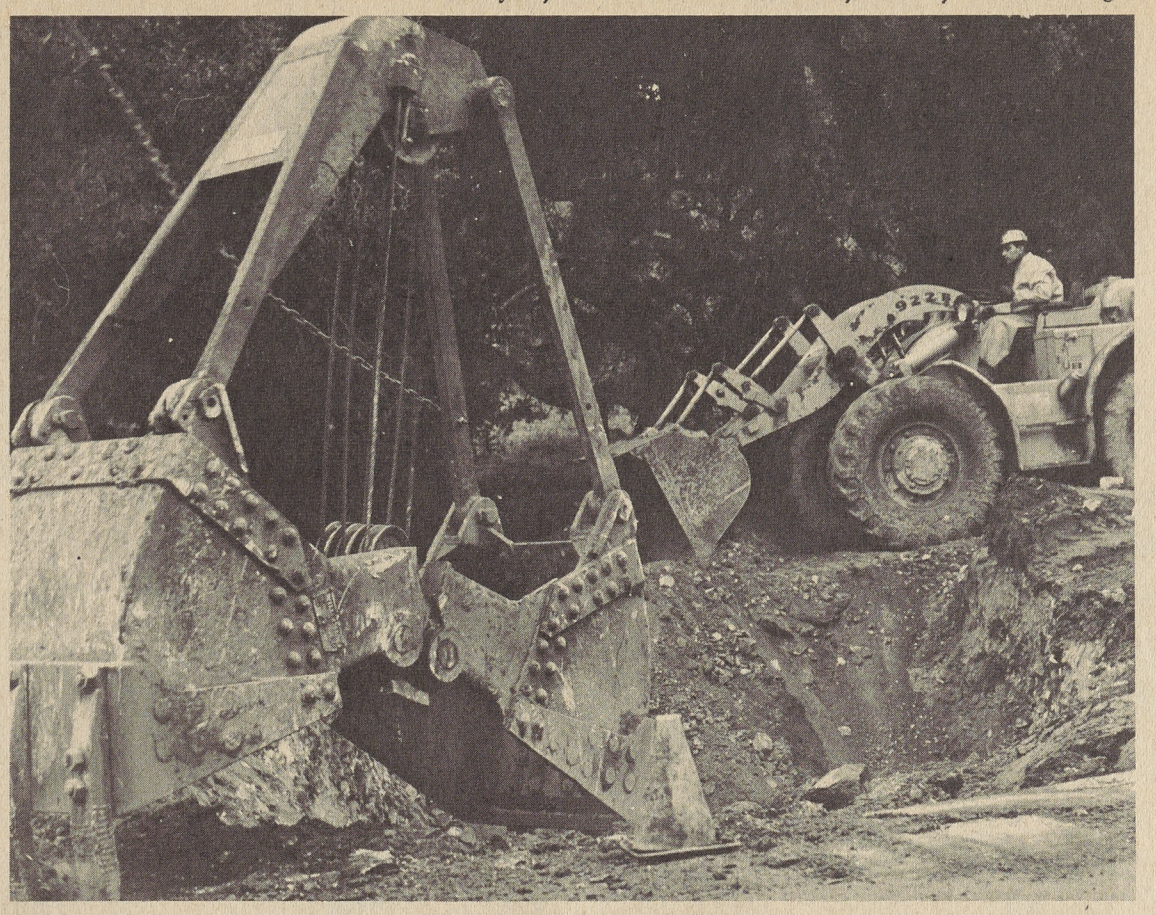
Carmel had too much height (the tallest Hollister performer —Center Bud Ottmar — measuring only 6–2) and all around court savvy for the Balers, who usually are quite tough on their home floor. Hollister did lead—at one time by four – the first six minutes of the contest.

With the first round of league play now concluded, Carmel shows an impressive per-game average of 68 points to the opponents 54. The Padres will have to really be up for Palma, last year's MTAL Champ, and King City, for they play both formidable clubs on their floor, and although Carmel has a comfortable lead, "anything can happen in the second half", reminds Coach Jason Harbert.

Many local fans are already beginning to talk about a possible intra-league playoff between Carmel and the MBL cinch winner, Santa Cruz, which lost only one player from last year's championship team, the Cardinals going all the way to the Northern California Playoffs at Stanford University.

Although the Carmel Varsity won, the other two quintets took it on the chin, Hollister taking the JV tilt, 56-53, and the Lightweights losing, 41-36.

Jimmy Conlan once again starred for Carmel in the JV game, hitting for 14, followed by Kevin Cunningham with ten, and Jeff Canepa with nine. It was the fourth close loss for Dick Charles' JV's, and another heartbreaker, as they had the lead a halftime, 27-26, and at the end of the third stanza, led, 39-38.



HEAVY EQUIPMENT was used to fill in after a new culvert had to be placed under Carmel Valley Road north of Country Club Road.

Accident injures two

Two persons were transported to the Community Hospital Sunday by Red Cross ambulance operated by the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department when a two-car accident occured on Carmel Valley Road.

The victims were listed as William and Constance Powell of 3 Paso Hondo, Carmel Valley. Driver of the other car was Alex Wilson of Laguna Seca Ranch.

According to the CHP the Powell car ran off the south side of the highway into the river after striking the Wilson car from behind as it was slowing for water on Carmel Valley road east of Miramonte Road. It was pulled out by the Carmel Valley Vonunteer Fire Department.

Water storage and flood control to be enlarged in scope

Preparation of approximate boundaries of a proposed Peninsula zone of the county's water conservation and flood control district was called for last week at a meeting of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors.

The motion was made by Board Chairman Willard T. Branson, of Carmel Valley, who has urged that steps to guarantee the Peninsula area an adequate water supply despite future population growth.

If voters approve a bond issue the zone would be similar in concept to those formed in the Salinas Valley to build the Nacimiento and San Antonio dams.

The third dam on the Carmel River has long been proposed as a means of forestalling water shortages on the Monterey Peninsula.

Kaminske will succeed Hansen

Roy Kaminske of West Carmel Valley Road, took office as president of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association for 1969 at a general election meeting held last week at the Community Center.

He succeeds Emil C. Hansen, of Country Club Drive.

The members present voted unanimously to accept a slate submitted by the CVPOA nominating committee.

Serving with Kaminske will be Paul E. Cooper, Laurel Drive, vice president; James K. Miller, Aliso Road, secretary; Stanley T.B. Johnson, Robles del Rio, treasurer.

The directors are Edwin L. Rich, Hacienda Carmel; George W. Fairbanks, Carmel Knolls Drive; Egon C. Durr, Rotunda Drive; Edwin B. Lee, Robinson Canyon Road; John C. Dowdakin, Country Club Drive; George S. Lockwood, Toyon Way; John E. Taylor, Meadow Place; Mrs. Doris Mark, Robles del Rio and Jack Swanson, Cachagua.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Fidelity Club

The Fidelity Club sponsored by the Carmel Valley Community Chapel will hold a potluck dinner meeting on February 6, Thursday, at 6:00 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall.

Co-hosting the dinner and entertainment (to be announced) are Mrs. J.H. Hughes, Miss Esther Trevino and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hansen. Those planning to attend are asked to bring a hot dish, a salad, or a dessert.

Padre Trails Camera Club

A program of color slides entitled "Surf and Shore" will be presented at the meeting of the Padre Trails Camera Club when they meet Thursday, Feb. 6 at 8 p.m. in Brey Hall, Carmel High School.

Miss Sherry Ballard will be narrator for the slide pictures which she took. Photographers from Salinas and Hollister have been invited to attend, and the meeting is open to visitors from the Monterey Peninsula.

Members are asked to bring four slides showing nature subjects for the club contest.

Auditions held for musicians

Gifted young musicians will compete in auditions to be held Saturday morning March 22 at the Monterey Peninsula College Music Hall.

Two auditions will be held for pianists and string performers. Cash awards will be given winners in each category as well as an opportunity to appear in concert with the Monterey Peninsula Chamber Music Society later in the year.

The student qualifications are as follows: shall not be over 25 years of age; must be a resident of Monterey, Santa Cruz, or San Benito counties; must be proficient in performing music of concert caliber (comparable to sonatas or major selections from the Baroque, Classic, Romantic, or Modern periods); should memorize his selection for the audition; and should confine his audition to 15 minutes unless he has made a previous understanding.

Information and application forms can be obtained by telephoning the Rev. H.M.M. Nicholas, 624-6533; Mrs. Rosario Mazzee, 624-7014 or Miss Angie Machado, 624-4166, or writing inquiries to the Monterey Peninsula Chamber Music Society, P.O. Box 6238, Carmel, California, 93921.

Files for CUSD Board

James I. Miller filed this week for membership on the board of trustees of the Carmel Unified School District.

Active in peninsula affairs, he is past president of the Monterey Peninsula Jay Cee's, past president of the Monterey Bay chapter of the California moving and storage association, and past president of the board of directors of Junior Achievement.

He resides with his wife Barbara and three children on Ridgewood Road, Carmel. He is the son of Leo F. Miller, and the brother of Perry Miller, both of Carmel.

Building approval made

A use permit was granted for a ballet studio to be build for Patricia Wester on Delfino Place at a meeting of the Upper Carmel Valley advisory board at its meeting last week.

Approval was given for the construction of a guest house on the Lloyd Swanson property in La Rancheria.

Design approval was made for the Good Earth, and the Chatterbox supplemental sign.

Elimination of non-complying signs is still being pushed by the board.

New TV stations on Valley cable

A new TV station, KMST, will go on the air Saturday when CBS Monterey will be heard on UHF channel 46.

This station can be picked up on channel 13 on the cabel according to Victor J. Carp, owner of the TV cabel concern in the valley. The Kaiser station channel 44 can now be heard on the cable on channel 3.

Cable service to La Rancheria is still to be held up because of a right of way from the Rancho Road area, he said.

Church services resume

Church services will resume next Sunday at St. Dunstan's Episcopal church according to the Rev. James W. Brock.

If the bridge auto traffic is not resumed this week, parishioners can reach the church via the foot bridge, he said.

BRONZE STATUETTE shown above is of Bacchus (god of wine) as a boy. It will be seen among a collection, "Wine in the Arts", featured at two Peninsula museums during February.
